UPDIKE ENTERS PLEA OF NOT GUILTY

Oklahoma City, Jan. 18.—B. H. Updike, charged with the murder of P. D. Anderson and A. O. Christenson at his home on West Reno street Sunday night, was formally arraigned on the charge of murder before Justice Leroy Paddock at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. He entered a plea of not guilty and was remanded to the custody of Sheriff Jack Spain.

Attorney Moman Pruett, counsel for the defendant, stated he will immediately ask for bond for his client. Assistant County Attorney A. F. Moss, for the state, will resist the motion to release on the grounds that it is premeditated murder and not bailable.

"I shall not ask for it until I have drawn the fire from the county attorney's office," said Attorney Pruett, "I want to know what evidence they have that Updike is guilty of premeditated murder."

"Evidence Is Sufficient."
"There is sufficient evidence to hold Updike and some to spare," declared Prosecutor Moss.

B. H. Updike, father of the incarcerated man, visited his son at the county jail. He is a resident of Granfield, Okla., and a brother-in-law of ex-Governor C. N. Haskell. The elder Updike stated that Bert Updike has always been a good boy, that he was not inherently mean and quoted Attorney Pruett in saying "Bert is right." The son maintains his advised silence.

The body of Christenson was taken to Racine, Wis., his former home, Tuesday night. Relatives there ordered it sent. The body of Anderson was sent to Stamford, Tex., Wednesday noon, accompanied by friends.

NO REOPENING OF ROLLS.

Representative Campbell Says New Choctaw and Chickasaw Legislation Will Not Be Considered.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Representative Campbell of Kansas, a member of the house subcommittee on Indian affairs, emphatically stated today that no legislation, looking toward the reopening of the Indian tribal rolls in the Choctaw, Chickasaw, Osage or other Indian nations in Eastern Oklahoma, would be considered at the short session of congress.

This precludes the possibility of Attorney Webster Ballinger getting through a measure providing for the reopening of the Choctaw and Chickasaw rolls for the enrollment of 5,000 freedmen as citizens by blood, thereby granting the negroes 320 acres of land, instead of forty acres as is now provided by law.

CEMENT PLANT IN OPERATION AGAIN

The Oklahoma Portland Cement plant is in operation again and as soon as a few needed repairs can be made will operate to its full capacity. At present the water supply is coming from the city, but work on the pipe line to the artesian well at the quarry is being pushed and it will be only a few days until it is completed. The line to Sandy is being taken up and laid first. Three cars of pipe will probably arrive today and the remainder in a few days. The new line will afford an ample supply of water until it rains again, and then when the Byrd's Mill enterprise is pushed through Ada will be independent along the water line.

CARLTON WEAVER LEAVES ADA.

Carlton Weaver left for his new home at Tulsa this afternoon. For ten years he has been here, during which time he has seen Ada grow from nothing to a prosperous city, and through out it all he has done all that lay in his power for clean and progressive government. The writer has known him only four years, but during that period we have formed a very high regard for him. One always respects a man who lives up to his principles, whether he is always in accord with them or not, and that is the way we have sized him up. While his many old time friends will miss his presence greatly, we all wish him abundant success in his new enterprise.

Hunt-Garner.

Last evening at Holdenville, the marriage of Mr. Duff Hunt of Oakman and Miss Beulah Garner of Stratford was solemnized. The News extends hearty congratulations to the couple, for they are both worthy young people. The bride is the daughter of H. E. Garner, who until recently lived at Oakman. She is a most estimable young lady and the News is under particular obligations to her for many past favors. She was our correspondent at Oakman until the family moved to Stratford, and no paper ever had a better one. The groom is the son of M. L. Hunt, our county commissioner, and a young man of excellent reputation. Again we wish them smooth sailing on the uncertain sea of matrimony.

Sam Ailey of Roff is among the county seat visitors today.

LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS

HOUSE PASSES PROHIBITION BILL RODDIE BANKING BILL BEFORE SENATE.

The house passed, on final roll call, the new prohibition bill with but one dissenting vote, that being Mr. Glover of Grady, who objected to that provision which made it a felony for a third-time violation of the law.

The defeat of the "removal section" motion upon which was lodged yesterday, was reconsidered, friends of the measure believing they had solution by which county officers who failed to enforce the law could be disciplined. When it came time for an amendment, Mr. Williams of Comanche offered a substitute section, which required that the governor, before suspending a county official, to be in possession of affidavits showing that such official had refused to enforce the provisions of the law, and suspension could only be ordered by the governor after the accused official was given a hearing. The amendment contemplated that the was to then be certified to a court for trial and if the official was convicted, his removal from office followed.

Messrs. Maxey and Anthony offered a substitute, the terms of which restricted the governor somewhat, and, as Mr. Maxey expressed it, did not require the executive to sit as a police judge in booking cases.

The substitute was adopted by a vote of 59 to 30. It provides that the governor, when official neglect pertaining to the prohibition law is reported to him, may order the attorney general to file a complaint against such officials in the district court, moving the latter's removal from office. If the court is in session the accused may be suspended by the court; if not in session then by the judge, until the case is finally determined. The official may have a trial within ten days if demanded, providing court is in session; if not, his opportunity to be heard shall be on the first day of the succeeding term. The section as adopted gives the proceedings a purely judicial character, and the accused the right to have a change of judge or a change of venue. It awards to the governor the authority to file an accusation without the intervention of a grand jury.

Mr. Moss of Wagoner endeavored to get in a section that when the fees in liquor cases were not paid by the litigants they should be by the county, but this was construed to be properly fee bill legislation, therefore out of order.

Would Abolish Dispensaries.

As it goes to the Senate, the bill abolishes state and local dispensaries, but authorizes the governor to appoint a superintendent of warehouses who shall sell alcohol to the drug trade and denatured alcohol for educational and scientific purposes. It abolishes the office of state enforcement attorney, as well as the state enforcing department and places the burden of enforcing the law upon county officials.

No whisky or other intoxicants are countenanced by the state, and the state is not to be financially interested in the sale of alcohol. All liquors are to be spilled as soon as adjudicated as contraband. The first two convictions for violation of the law are misdemeanors, punishable by fine and jail imprisonment, but the third is five years in the penitentiary, the offender being recognized as a habitual violator. The bill is said to be satisfactory to the executive department.

Roddie Banking Bill.

In the senate there was long discussion of the Roddie banking bill in committee of the whole, chiefly upon the amendments of Senator Thompson to eliminate the proposed reorganization of the state banking board, and the proposed increase in salaries of the state bank commissioner and the state bank examiners, the number of the latter being increased from eight to eleven.

The principal objection to increasing salaries offered by the opposition was in keeping with a general policy of economy which some of the senators announced early in the session.

Senator Hatchett warned the members that if there was an indiscriminate advancing of pay, practically every state officer would be pleading with the legislature for more money, and on the proposition to advance the pay of inspectors from $1,800 to $2,400 a year he said he did not believe the job was worth that much. There was not a bank cashier in Bryan county, he said, drawing over $1,800.

An amendment by Senator Vandeventer retained the salary at $1,800, but permitted the increase of Commissioners from eight to eleven, and an amendment by Senator Memminger requires that examiners shall have at least three years banking experience.

Senator Roddie, an advocate of the bill, won an increase in the commissioner's salary from $2,500 to $4,000 per year, after an amendment had been offered to make it $3,000 and $3,500.

When it came to revising the banking board membership by reducing it to two besides the governor, Senator Coffey wanted the requirement that the two members had to be selected from a list of bankers submitted by state bankers, and called the senate's attention to the recent democratic platform demand, assuring state bankers they would have representation.

Just before the amendment went to defeat Senator Roddie interpreted the platform to mean that while their interests would be protected, state bankers would not be permitted to dictate and control the board.

The senate also defeated an amendment by Senator Eggerman requiring that the two members be bankers, and like treatment was given the Thompson amendment which would retain the board as now constituted on state officials. Members of the banking board will receive $6 per day under an amendment by Senator Thompson reducing it from $10.

Creation of Counties.

The senate passed finally the Smith bill repealing the law whereby counties may be created or existing ones altered, the vote being 25 to 16. The emergency was defeated.

Consolidated Rural Schools.

In the senate Senator Coffey offered a bill appropriating $3,000,000 for consolidated rural schools, providing that where a district has three teachers, six months' school, and not less than twenty-four miles area and a school building erected, the state treasurer shall advance to the district one-half of the building cost, which can not exceed, however, $3,000.

Loosened Their Tongues.

Two young gentlemen were brought before the county attorney and refused to talk. Judge Barton was sent for and they still maintained a silence. Silence may be golden some times, but not in this instance. The judge, after trying every other method to get them to talk, finally gave them ten days in jail in which to think it over. They stayed until next morning when they needed no urging to talk. The experience loosened their tongues and the dumb devils were quickly cast out of them. They told what they knew and were released.

RAILROAD PROPOSITION

WHAT ADA PROPOSES TO GIVE TO SECURE SALLISAW-LAW- TON LINE.

John Beard is hard at work now on the proposition to be submitted to the promoters of the Sallisaw-Lawton railroad, and in a few days it will be formally presented. It remains to be seen, of course, just what the attitude of the road will be towards the town, but the offer agreed on at the last meeting held at the club rooms, is certainly all the town can be expected to raise.

The proposition will be to pay a cash bonus of $35,000 when the road is in operation to Ada, with an additional $15,000 if Ada is made a division point, the money to be paid when a brick round house and yard tracks are built.

"OK" CEMENT CO. GETS FIRST CHECK

Talk of your nerve the Oklahoma City papers have it. Those cheeky cusses in mentioning the fact that the first check signed by the new state treasurer for $3,844.17 worth of cement for the penitentiary at McAlester, state that it was made to the Oklahoma Portland Cement Co., of Oklahoma City. We did not know before that the corporate limits of Oklahoma City had been extended this way to include Ada, and our cement mill, but perhaps those papers have later information on the subject. We don't object to Oklahoma City claiming the rest of the earth, but we'll be hanged if we are going to let them claim our cement industry without making a vigorous kick. We shall be forced to the conclusion that the Guthrie papers are not far from wrong when they speak of the metropolis as Hogsburg.

Appropriation Bills Are $4,000,000.

Oklahoma City, Jan. 18.—Appropriation bills aggregating nearly $4,000,000 were introduced in the senate Wednesday. The largest item was the bill by Coffey, appropriating $3,000,000 from the public building fund to assist consolidated rural schools, along the same line as the one recently introduced in the house by Peebly.

A bill by Kendrick gives the school for the deaf at Sulphur $135,000 for new buildings, and one by Franklin and Thomas appropriates $248,000 for new buildings for the six district agricultural schools, and $255,675 for their maintenance. Each of the schools is given $20,000 for a girls' dormitory, $15,000 for a boys' dormitory, $8,000 for shop and dairy building and $1,000 for a farm house for the foreman. The Murray and Panhandle schools also get $2,000 each for new barns. On maintenance each of the schools gets $19,400 for 1911 and $20,059 for 1912, except the Panhandle school, which gets $14,250 this year and $14,175 next.

Capt. W. H. Fisher was a passenger to Oklahoma City this afternoon.

Sherman Carter one of the first residents of Ada, is down from Oklahoma City on a little business matter that will keep him here a day or two. He is employed on some concrete work in Oklahoma City and will probably remain there for some time yet. He looks as though city life was agreeing with him.

THE WIFE DESERTER.

The writer can make due allowance for many shortcomings in his yellow men, for we realize that we are far from perfect, and that we should allow for the mistakes of others, but there are some acts done with all due deliberation that can not be condoned. About the most contemptible scoundrel in the catalogue is the man who deserts his family and leaves them to the charity of the world. When a man assumes the marriage obligation he promises to provide for his wife and their offspring, and if he is too weak or too sorry to do this, no mercy should be shown him. Even if the wife is sometimes to blame, he should still be forced to provide for his helpless children and not leave them as a burden upon others. If that sort of man is caught he should be put to work for the state and every dollar he makes go to his family. A few cases of that kind would do much to make this thing of family desertion unpopular among the class of men who practice it. I know of nothing so pitiable as a helpless family saddened by the husband and father who should be their best friend and protector, and know of no other remedy than the one suggested.

A NEW DEPOT IS NEEDED.

When Ada was only a wide place in the road the present depot of the Frisco was ample for the accommodation of its employees and the traveling public, but now that the town has grown to the dimensions of a small city and the traffic of the road increased in proportion its is certainly no credit either to the road or to the city to have such an inadequate structure. Even the O. C. is ahead of it. One or two enterprising citizens have presented the matter to the Frisco officials, but nothing has come of it. It is now up to the citizens as a body to take the matter up and convince the railroad company that they mean business. The traffic of the road in and out of Ada is certainly large enough to entitle the town to some consideration and relief. While we have heard no complaint from the employees at the depot, yet a glance at the room in which the whole bunch must work is enough to convince one that if they were not human beings the road could be convicted of cruelty to animals. Perhaps that could be done, anyway. At all events the citizens should register a most vigorous kick and take some action that will serve to convince the company that patience has at last ceased to be a virtue.

A STRANGE FRIENDSHIP.

Senator Elkins' recent death brought to light many stories of his early life, and none is more interesting than an anecdote which explains the lifelong friendship which existed between Mr. Elkins and Cole Younger the notorious desperado who was associated with the James brothers in many of their robberies and finally landed in the Stillwater penitentiary for the bold day-light robbery of a bank at Northfield, Minn.

In 1862 Mr. Elkins was on his way to join the federal army, when he was taken prisoner by the guerrilla chieftain, Charles W. Quantrell.

Upon entering the camp of the guerrillas Mr. Elkins was delighted to find that Cole Younger was a second lieutenant of the chieftain.
Younger had been a pupil in a school taught by Mr. Elkins, and a warm bond of friendship existed between them.

Younger immediately began a campaign to get Mr. Elkins released. He told Quantrell that he had known Mr. Elkins for a long time, that he was a Confederate sympathizer, and was really a noncombatant who had stayed at home to take care of his widowed mother. Quantrell believed his young officer and released Mr.
Elkins, who fled to a place of safety.

In spite of the fact that Younger's offense, which landed him in the Stillwater penitentiary, was so serious, Mr. Elkins never forgot him.
After Younger had served twenty-five years of his life sentence, it was Senator Elkins who managed to get him released. He set Younger up in business and did everything possible to show his appreciation of the service which his former pupil rendered him in 1862.

Steadfastness to his friends was the one thing above all others which characterized Senator Elkins' career, and nothing showed the predominant trait of the distinguished West Virginian better than his faithfulness to Cole Younger.—Tennessean.

HE GOT THE HORSE LAUGH.

A few days ago a representative of the tax department of the Frisco called on Mayor Little to see about the paving and other matters pertaining to the railroad's interests, and suggested that since the railroad had been granted a right of way before the townsite was laid off, that the city had no right to the land used as streets running across the road, but that he thought the city might pay the railroad something and get a clear title to the streets. Very naturally the mayor couldn't see it in that light at all, and the matter stands where it was before.

A DOMITORY FOR THE NORMAL.

The News sincerely hopes that the bill introduced into the legislature by Crawford and Roddie to make an appropriation for building a dormitory for the Ada normal will pass.
The matter of providing suitable boarding places for the normal students is a serious handicap at present. It is a barrier to the progress of the school that must in some way be overcome, and without doubt this is the shortest cut towards removing the great obstacle.

Growing old is a slow process,
and none of us want to become old, but few would embrace the opportunity of going through it a second time.

A piece of advice often given, but seldom followed: "Quit your kicking and get down to business." The latter course would certainly prove the more profitable.

The San Angelo (Texas) Standard says that "there is more joy in a printing office over one sinner that pays in advance and abuses the editor on every possible occasion than there is over the ninety and nine who borrow the paper and sing its praises without contributing a cent to keep it out of the poor house." Go up head, brother.

Oklahoma is not the only state where a continuous political campaign is kept going. Texas is scheduled for a statewide prohibition on election for July 22. The issue for the past two or three years has been Baileysism, but perhaps the senator will now take a vacation.

DUKE STONE ADDRESSES NORMAL STUDENTS

Duke Stone, by special invitation from the faculty, addressed the normal students yesterday. He took as his topic the important subject of opportunity, calling special attention to the wonderful opportunities presented themselves to the younger generation of Oklahoma and the necessity of their being able to recognize and grasp these as they come within reach, as well as being prepared to hold on to an opportunity when once it is within the hands. It is an impressive subject to say the least of it, and Mr. Stone is the man esting and attractive.

The Oldest Indian.

Spokane, Wash., Jan. 19.—Jake Hunt, the oldest Indian in the Northwest, reputed to be 108 years old, who has a son 77 years of age, will not live many more "moons," Jack Coon, a son-in-law, attributes the old man's illness to too much picture, pointing to Jake's photograph. "Too much picture make too many of him; scatter him all over so when cold come now, he die. I have picture taken long time ago, make me weak so have ache under hat two weeks."

Old Jake is worth about $7,000 in cash in the banks, has a quarter section of land estimated to be worth $30,000 and is known to have $1,600 in gold hidden away. The hiding place is unknown.

Years ago an Indian village stood in what is now known as the Yakima Indian Reservation, where the Hunt family now carry on a general farming business. All that is left of the old settlement is a little church, a totem pole and a number of mounds where the Klickitats lie who could not reach the century mark.
Old Jake says that this was the Indians' paradise before the advent of early white settlers. Deer, bear and all kinds of big game were plentiful. Below the falls of the White Salmon river, which is now harnessed, hundreds of Indians congregated every year during the salmon run to procure their winter's supply of fish.

Old Jake was considered the liveliest buck in the tribe when their annual powwows took place, which were kept up until 19 years ago. Tomtoms, fancy dresses, painted faces, dancing, singing and feasting was the order of the day and night, lasting a week or more.

Old Jake is said to have married seven times during his long career, but there will be only a widow and a few children to fall heir to his property.

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

Smith Sells Furniture.

J. C. Johnson was a passenger on Weleekta this morning.

Mrs. R. H. Robinson arrived from Francis last evening for a short stay with friends.

Of valued friend, Sam Garner of Stratford, paid the News a short call this morning.

Mrs. Charlie Greer left this morning for a visit to Mr. Greer's parents at Ozark, Ark.

J. M. Roberts, auditor of the department of agriculture at Washington, D. C., is an Ada visitor today.

A. J. Moore and wife of Bonham, Tex., arrived yesterday afternoon for a visit to their old time friends, J. A. Biles and wife.

The new stock of millinery will begin to arrive this week for The Model, which is now located at the old postoffice building on East Main St. 245-2td

Mr. and Mrs. Duff Hunt, the latest victim of Cupid's arrows, returned from Holdenville this morning and were passengers on the morning Frisco for Oakman.

M. V. Chapman returned this morning from a hunting trip in the vicinity of Lawrence, but reports that on account of the bad weather he did not have much luck.

J. J. Chapman is planning to build another cottage on his lots just west of his present residence some time in the near future. He is figuring on concrete as the material for the structure.

A. K. Thornton returned this morning from Kansas City. He says it rained there Monday, a general freeze following and the water is still on the ground—in the form of ice, of course. Andy says no northern winters for him, please.

Ben L. Hyden of Stratford, passed through yesterday afternoon en route home from Oklahoma City where he purchased two additional autos for the auto livery business conducted by himself and Sam Threlkeld. That gives them a total of seven machines.

F. J. Stafford, well known to the older settlers of Ada, and who is now president of the First National bank of Blanchard, was in town yesterday greeting his many friends. Mr. Stafford was employed at W. C. Rollow's for a year or two when living here.

J. S. Armstrong of the Armstrong-Byrd music house of Oklahoma City, returned home yesterday afternoon. He spoke in confident terms of the prospects for a good business in Ada. G. W. Casteel of Enid was a business visitor in our city yesterday afternoon.

E. W. Hardin and wife left this morning for Memphis, Tenn., where they will attend a big banquet given to the representatives of the United Fidelity and Guaranty Co. Most of the Oklahoma agents of the company will come in over the Rock Island Ry. and the entire party go together. Mr. and Mrs. Hardin stated that they would bring us a few samples of the banquet if they thought a square meal would make any improvement in the looks of the editor.

Milton Garner blew in from Stratford yesterday afternoon wearing his usual happy smile. He and his brother Sam are planning to embark in the grocery business as soon as they can secure suitable quarters. He says that work on six new brick buildings will begin about February 1. He also stated that Stratford has a band with twenty-two instruments, and being a musician he is naturally pleased with that feature of his new home. He remarked that he thinks his matrimonial prospects are rapidly improving.

Preparing for Old Age.

By Elbert Hubbard.

Socrates was once asked by a pupil this question:

"What kind of people shall we be when we reach Elysium?"

And the answer was:

"We shall be the same kind of people that we were here."

If there is a life after this we are preparing for it now, just as I am today preparing for my life tomorrow.

What kind of a man shall he be tomorrow? Oh, about the same kind of man that I am now. The kind of man that I shall be next month depends upon the kind of man I have been this month.

If I am miserable today it is not within the bound of probabilities that I shall be supremely happy tomorrow. Heaven is a habit. And if we are going to heaven we would better be getting used to it.

Life is a preparation for the future to live as if there were none. We are preparing all the time for old age. The two things that make old age beautiful are resignation and a just consideration for the rights of other.

In the play of "Ivan the Terrible" the interest centers around the man, the Czar Ivan. As played by Richard Mansfield we simply got a glimpse into the life of a tyrant who runs the gamut of grunt, growl, grumpiness and grouch.

Incidentally this man had the power to put other men to death, and this he does and has done as his whim and temper might dictate. He has been vindictive, cruel, quarrelsome, tyrannical and terrible. Now that he feels the approach of death he would make his peace with God.

But he has delayed the matter too long. He didn't realize in youth and middle life that he was then preparing for old age.

Man is the result of cause and effect, and the causes are to a degree in our hands. Life is fluid, and well has it been called the stream of life—we are going, flowing somewhere.

Strip Ivan of his robes and crown and he might be an old farmer and live in Ebenezer.

Every town and village has its Ivan.

To be an Ivan just turn your temper loose and practice cruelty on any person or thing within your reach, and the result will be a sure preparation for a querulous, quarrelsome, pickety, snikity, fussy and foolish old age, accented with many outbursts of wrath that are terrible in their futility and ineffectiveness.

Babyhood has no monopoly on the tantrum.

The characters of King Lear and Ivan the Terrible have much in common. One might almost believe that the writer of Ivan had felt the incompleteness of Lear and had seen the absurdity of making a melodramatic bid for sympathy in behalf of this old man thrust out by his daughters.

Lear, the troublesome, Lear, to whose limber tongue there were constantly leaping words unprintable and names of tar, deserves no soft pity at our hands. All his life he had been training his three daughters for exactly the treatment he was to receive.

All his life Lear had been lubricating the chute that was to give him a quick ride out into the midnight storm.

"Oh, how sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have a thankless child," he cries.

There is something quite as bad as a thankless child, and that is a thankless parent—an irate, insensible parent who possesses an underground vocabulary and a disposition to use it.

The false note in Lear lies in giving him a daughter like Cordelia. Tolstoy's portrayal rings true, and Ivan the Terrible is what he is without apology, excuse or explanation. Take it or leave it—if you do not like plays of this kind go with me to vaudeville.

Mansfield's Ivan was terrible. The czar is not old in years—not over seventy—but you can see that Death is sniffing close upon his track. Ivan has lost the power of repose. He cannot listen, weigh and decide. He has no thought or consideration for any man or thing. This is his habit of life.

Glimpses of Ivan's past are given in his perky confessions. He is the most miserable and unhappy of men, and you behold that he is reaping as he has sown.

All his life he has been preparing for this. Each day has been a preparation for the next. Ivan dies in a fit of wrath, hurling curses on his family and his court—dies in a fit of wrath into which he has been purposely taunted by a man who knows that the outburst is certain to kill the weakened monarch.

Where does Ivan the Terrible go when Death forecloses the mortgage? I know not. But this I believe: No confessional can absolve him; no priest benefit him; no God forgive him. He has damned himself and he began the work in youth. He was getting ready all his life for this old age, and this old age was getting ready for the fifth act.

The playwright does not say so, Mansfield did not say so, but this is the lesson: Hate is a poison, wrath is a toxin, sensuality leads to death, clutching selfishness is a lightning to the fires of hell. It is all a preparation—cause and effect.

If you are ever absolved you must absolve yourself, for no one else can.

And the sooner you begin the better.

We often hear of the beauties of old age, but the only old age that is beautiful is the one the man has long been preparing for by living a beautiful life. Every one of us is right now preparing for old age.

There may be a substitute somewhere in the world for good nature, but I do not know where it can be found.

The secret of salvation is this: Keep sweet and keep busy.

"When a man's married," said Rose Stahl the Chorus Lady, "his excuses begin. Do you ever hear how Sambo got out of it when he was caught in the turkey coop?"

"Deed, mistah," he said, "deed sah. I isn't a-stealing dis yan bird. I's a-takin' it in self-defense. Hones' I is!"

"Self-defense!" roared the indignant owner, shaking him by the collar. "What kind of lie are you trying to tell me?"

"Please, sah," wailed the much-abused Sambo, "mah wife she say ef I doan' fotch home a turkey she gwine ter break ebery bone in mah body. An' so I jes' blegged ter perrect mahself!"—Young's Magazine.

IS THE BUYING FOR YOUR HOME DONE INTELLIGENTLY?

Some housewives, harassed to the verge of nervous breakdown by trivial annoyances, devote no real attention to the "buying" problem. They buy when they HAVE TO—perhaps at "the nearest place"—when, very likely, better values and lower prices are advertised by three or four different stores.

The housewife who does not give as much attention to a study of the ads as she gives to other things in the daily routine, that are of half as much importance, will never find any real interest in the business of home-making.

The ad-studying housewife buys INTELLIGENTLY. She knows her "market" as well as any broker or merchant knows his. And she will never stop to tell you how "hard it is to find anything in the stores nowadays that one wants and can still afford to buy." For, to an ad-reader, that is not such a hard task!

The Delights
In Baking With

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

To fully appreciate the real pleasure of baking, buy a can of Calumet and as a test bake a batch of biscuits.

See how light and wonderfully raised they come from the oven.

Then break one of them open and note how thoroughly, evenly and fluffily the dough has risen.

And the final test—the one that counts—butter and taste.

This test will prove to you that Calumet is the most dependable Baking Powder for every purpose.

It will prove its economy over the high-price trust brands and its great superiority over the cheap and big can kinds.

For Calumet is highest in quality—and moderate in cost.
